NEW ENGLAND SCRIBES ON THE WAY TO ROANOKE.

WILL BE IN NORFOLK TOMORROW

Full account of the Trip—The Preparations Made by Other Cities—Are Those Not Made Here—They Break Fast Here on Thursday

Yesterday morning the fast sailing steamer Dorchester glided out of beautiful Boston harbor, with her decks crowded with half-a-hundred of the brightest writers belonging to the New England Press Association.

Tomorrow at noon the vessel will be at her wharf in Norfolk, if the weather is fair, and many of the passengers will for the first time get a glimpse of the Old Dominion. At the wharf the writers will be met by the mayor, a delegation of citizens and two members of the Association.

President F. H. Brown, of the Association, will also be a brass band. The Chamber of Commerce will take charge of the party.

There will be a drive around the great sea port city of the South, and then will come a banquet at the hotel, speeches of welcome and a sail over the bay in a steam yacht provided by General Grover.

At 10 o'clock Monday night the party will leave for Roanoke, coming here directly. They will be accompanied by a committee of the Virginia Press Association, consisting of Messrs. Pugh, Smith, Glass, Jones, Barham and Murray, and a staff correspondent of the Roanoke Times.

The party will arrive in Roanoke at 7:30 in the morning and will have breakfast at the Hotel Roanoke. They will remain here just two hours and twenty-five minutes and will then go on to Bristol, where they will arrive at 10 o'clock in the afternoon, leaving the next day at 1:45 p. m. for Radford. They will reach their flourishing little city at 3:30, and will stop but a few moments before proceeding to Pocahontas, where they will take a look over the great coal fields of that region. At 5:30 they will leave for Bluefield and will spend the night at the Inn, leaving the next morning at 5:30 o'clock, and coming back to Radford. They will be entertained there with a banquet.

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning the train will pull into the station here, where one of the longest visits of the trip will be made. No arrangements have yet been made for the reception of the party. But the only city in the State where no action has been taken in this regard. But no doubt this will be done immediately, though the time is short, and the matter should be attended to at once. A committee was recently appointed by the Real Estate Exchange, but as yet they have done nothing. It is expected, however, that they will do so at once. Roanoke acts quickly when she does not.

The association will remain here until 10 o'clock on Friday morning, when they will leave for Lynchburg. They will be in Petersburg on the seventh, where they will be entertained by a committee of citizens, and then they will go to Richmond arriving there at 10 o'clock on Saturday. Here they will be entertained with a banquet.

From Richmond they will sail down the historic James, pregnant with memories of colonial and revolutionary days.

At 6 o'clock they will reach Norfolk and will there board the Boston steamer, which will wait for them. They expect to reach home at 2 o'clock on the 22nd, after an absence of thirteen days. The trip promises to be a most charming one and every one could vie with the other in making it long to be remembered.

A Sample of Washington's Business

One of the oldest business houses at the capital is that of W. B. Moss & Sons, the largest retail furniture, carpet, upholstery and wall paper house in America. Established 1862.

Mr. A. C. Moss, of this firm, has come to this city with a magnificent sample line, which he will display on Rosenbaum Bros' second floor, No. 42 Salem Avenue, in quantities and at prices that will surprise the most careful and closest buyers.

All contemplating the purchase of housefurnishings will do well to examine this line.

On account of unfinished orders received last week, Mr. Moss will remain over Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the coming week.

A Memorial Hall.

A mass meeting of the faculty, students, alumni, and friends of the Washington and Lee University was held in the University Chapel Friday night, May 2nd, to discuss the erection of a large Memorial Hall to the alumni of the institution.

Dr. H. A. White, Hon. J. Randolph Tucker, Professor J. J. White (first Captain of the Liberty Hall Volunteers) and others addressed the meeting. Great enthusiasm was manifested. Committees were appointed to arrange for the practical details of the work, and there is every indication that the movement thus inaugurated will be attended with success.

Moonsliners in Limbo.

Intelligence from Tazewell Court-house yesterday is to the effect that Chief Deputy United States Marshal John B. Daley, yesterday arrested four desperate moonshiners on Cove Creek in that county. The prisoners' names are Bob Taylor, George Taylor and Bibb Taylor. They are now now safe in Tazewell jail, and the marshal is on the hunt for others of the gang.

TILL NEXT SEPTEMBER.

Closing Exercises of the Vinton Graded School.

The chapel of the Vinton public school was crowded yesterday morning with the patrons and pupils of the school. The scholars were all dressed in their best bib and tucker and waited with eager expectancy for the awarding of the prizes to roll around.

At 9:45 o'clock the school was called to order and the presentation began. The first prize was for scholarship and was awarded to Miss Ada Britt, Mr. W. P. Moonaw delivering it in a neat little speech. Next came the prize for punctual attendance which was secured by Miss Rosa Fuqua. This prize was presented by W. E. Kefauver. The department prize was won by Miss Lucie Venable, Dr. George T. Walker presenting it. The above prizes were for pupils in the principal's grade.

Miss Carrie Brightwell, teacher of the intermediate grade, offered a medal for punctual attendance, which was secured by Howard M. Meade, he having attended school for one hundred and twenty consecutive days. The medal was a beautiful little gold affair with the name "Howard" engraved upon it. Kirk Pedigo, of the primary department, won the prize offered by Miss Lucie Venable.

The successful pupils were not actuated to attend regularly or study hard by the desire to secure the prizes, for it was not announced that they would be given till nearly the close of the session.

Professor L. R. Holland was present, and made a short address congratulating both teachers and pupils upon the success of the term and the good work accomplished.

He had no hesitancy in saying that the Vinton school was the best in the county.

Mr. Jack made some very appropriate remarks in closing. Said he: "It may be the last time that we'll meet in the school room, and it is with a sad and heavy heart that I say good bye to my scholars. I am proud of the success attained during the session, and attribute it in a great measure to the faithful work done by my efficient assistants, Messrs. Brightwell and Meade. You have indeed done well, and I feel gratified beyond expression. I have been a trifle harsh with you during the year, and I ask that you forgive and forget it. I am proud of you, and I hope you will carry with you the lessons you have learned. Let 'duty' be your watch word. Push forward; improve the time, and be prepared to fight life's earnest battle, and when your school days are ended, may you look back upon them as the happiest period. You may forget your teachers, but the impression made here will last forever. May each of you, as you sail over the ocean of life, be governed by integrity and uprightness, and when the end of the voyage is reached and the grim reaper calls, be prepared to meet your God, and may he say 'all is well.'"

At the conclusion of Mr. Jack's speech, Miss Brightwell made a short talk that was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The exercises closed with a song, after which everybody repaired to the picnic ground and partook of good things that had been prepared.

FACTS FROM SALEM.

The Graduating Class Assigned a Baseball Game.

Times Bureau, HOTEL LUCERNE, SALEM, VA., May 10, 1890.

This afternoon at five o'clock the graduating class of Roanoke college were formally made acquainted with the fact that all have graduated. There are nineteen graduates. The Latin salutatory is assigned to A. M. Smith, of Maryland, and the valedictory to J. A. B. Scherer, of North Carolina. None of the speech subjects are assigned with reference to scholarship.

The other graduates are as follows: E. M. Armstrong, Jr., of Salem; D. Barnitz, Salem; James Bowyer, Indian Territory; S. S. Cassell, Virginia; C. M. Fox, Salem; C. A. Freed, Virginia; F. G. Killian, Virginia; P. H. Pearson, Sweden; R. B. Perry, Virginia; R. M. Pence, Virginia; T. W. Repass, Virginia; N. P. Studenker, Penn.; J. M. Teeter, Virginia; F. B. Trotter, West Virginia; W. W. Newberry, Virginia; W. A. Snead, Virginia. All of the graduates will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts except T. W. Repass, who takes the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The annual Saturday afternoon game of base ball took place today between a college nine and a picked nine. Battery: Keedy and Fox, and Wiley and Oakley. The college nine won by a score of 10 to 3.

Draper's playing was the feature of the game. A student (Morton of Virginia) had one of his fingers dislocated during the sport.

Next week a corps of regular engineers will be put to work on the streets and lots of the South Salem Land Company. The prospects of this company are favorable in the extreme.

Messrs. J. C. Langhorne and C. B. Stronze have returned to Salem from business trips.

Killed by the Train.

A white man named Haylong, supposed to have been beating his way, was run over and killed by a train at night a mile north of Shenandoah Valley railroad. The crew of the train were not aware of the accident until reaching Shepherdstown, when Conductor Walter Hutchings received a telegram from the Shenandoah station. Upon examination of the engine and running gear of the train, splashes of blood, and pieces of flesh and clothing were discovered. The engineer did not see the man and was surprised when told about it.

The remains of the infant daughter of Mr. M. L. Welsh, who died Friday, were sent to Thaxton yesterday morning for interment and the services took place at 4 o'clock.

A BROKEN HEAD

IS WHAT BEN HUBBARD HAS THIS MORNING

HE MAY DIE FROM THE BLOW.

A Rolling Alley Row—The Assaultant Arrested—And is Now in Jail—The Man's Wounds Are Dangerous—Both Men are Well Known to the Police.

Charles Otey, a man of very questionable character, struck Ben Hubbard on the head yesterday afternoon about 6:30 o'clock, in the bowling alley of Potot & Co. on First Avenue.

Both men were drinking. They had a quarrel earlier in the afternoon and a few blows were struck, but the affair was settled and friends thought it was done with, but about the time mentioned Otey again began abusing and cursing Hubbard, it is alleged, and they went back in the rear of the saloon to settle it. Otey went out into the yard, but Hubbard stayed in the house and was talking through the window. After squabbling for some time, Hubbard, it is stated, reached down on the alley and got a ball with the intention of hitting Otey, who warned him to stop as he advanced toward him. Hubbard did not stop and Otey threw the stone with great violence, striking the man on the left side of the head, just above the temple.

The wound is a most horrible one, and is about three inches in length and about the size of a silver dollar. The entire top portion of the skull was shattered and the physician dissected away the pieces of bone, the brain could be plainly seen.

Hubbard must be a man of wonderful nerve. After he had been struck, although his head was broken in several places, he made no outcry, but kept on towards Otey, who threw another stone at him, which struck him in the breast. Hubbard then turned, went back into the bar and called for a drink. He then went over to the left side of the head, assisted by Dr. Stom and Henry, dressed the wound.

As soon as Mr. Potot was informed of the affair, he went out in search of Otey and found him on Railroad Avenue. When he saw the gentleman coming Otey took to his heels and in the direction of the West End, and Mr. Potot gave up the chase. The man did not keep on, however, out of town, but as soon as it was dark enough, sneaked back to the barroom and secreted himself.

Some one saw him enter the building and the police were informed and officers Jones and Tillman arrested him. After the jail had been reached, Otey became so violent that double irons were put on him and he was chained to the floor.

Hubbard is a hard working carpenter, living on First street, S. E., and "Otey," it is said, is a regular tough. Hubbard will probably die.

THE GAME YESTERDAY.

Lots of Fun for the Boys Saturday.

"Play Ball."

There was lots of fun at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon, at the ball of game between the Roanokes and the Vintons. At 4:10 o'clock, Umpire Walter Budwell yelled, "play ball," in a voice that could plainly be heard on dead end hill, and from that time until the game was called the 300 spectators had great amusement. The boys are beginning to play good ball and nearly all the players had nice plays to their credit. Cobb, the pitcher for Roanoke, played an excellent game, and although this was his first game this season, only one scratch hit was made from him; that by Gray in the
